The political realities of human rights in the digital era

Y. K. Chang, Jinbonet
The candle light vigil

- Emerging new social movements
- Contribution of the Internet
The current status of human rights

- Neo-liberalism
- Empowerment and direct actions
Neo-liberalism and the Internet

- Information technology as a means of control in capitalism
- Internet, an agora where people gather to oppose neo-liberal globalization
Demands for human rights in the digital era

- Realize freedom of expression
- Uphold privacy
- Sharing Knowledge
Candle lights for digital human rights in a neo-liberal world

- World wide resistance
- Fragile human rights in the digital era
- Hope